Dear Applied Science Faculty & Staff,

I am situated about 500 miles north of Winnipeg doing research with the University of Wisconsin-Madison Forestry Department.

My latest project involves investigating the effect of increasing atmospheric temperature on the carbon cycle in the Boreal forest.

We are collecting data from 8 of our huge greenhouses, and measuring the variation in CO₂ release from the soil, trees, and roots, as well as monitoring other environmental factors relating to a 5 Celsius temperature increase.
