Dear Applied Science Faculty & Staff,

I am currently attending Montana State University-Bozeman, in pursuit of a Ph. D. in Microbiology.

My present research focuses on the natural immunity of humans against Aspergillus fumigatus. In addition, I am performing genomic and protein analysis of Aspergillus fumigatus germination.

Aspergillus fumigatus is the leading cause of death among immunocompromised patients. These are patients that are incapable of developing normal immune responses due to diseases, such as AIDS.
