Employee Eye Protection Information

Where required, ANSI approved eye or face protection will be provided by the university. You will be required to wear ANSI protection at all times while performing your job. Failure to do so can lead to disciplinary action and may result in a reduction of Worker’s Compensation benefits if you do have a job related accident. In addition, if eye examinations for safety glasses are necessary, the university will cover the entire cost of one examination during the life of this contract.

The University of Wisconsin-Stout will be responsible for the following costs for employees that meet the qualifications for eye protection.

Prescription safety glasses are ordered under State contract by the Safety & Risk Management Department. Individual departments are responsible for the cost of prescription safety glasses.

Questions can be directed to the Safety & Risk Management Department at X1793 or X2258.
