The Position Description form is the cover sheet for any job description and contains some basic information about the position. The supervisor should sign and date the form before sending it to HR.