

UW-Stout Emergency Fund Application

Emergency funds exist to assist students faced with difficult unexpected financial challenges. It is assumed that students seeking funding from the emergency funds have explored all other resources and potential funding sources. In addition to emergency grant funding from the UW-Stout Foundation, the university has designated federal funds available through the CARES Act to assist with Title IV eligible students who experienced expenses related to the disruption of campus operations caused by COVID-19. Eligible expenses through CARES funding include, but are not limited to: increased costs for food, housing, technology, course materials, health care, childcare, transportation, etc. Please note that, according to federal guidelines, CARES funding cannot be used to cover lost income/wages. Funds are limited, subject to approval, and are awarded on a first-come, first-served basis.
